2016 Hyundai Tucson

The 2016 Hyundai Tucson Limited AWD in elegant gray delivers an exceptional combination of turbocharged performance, upscale features, and all-weather capability—all wrapped in a sleek, modern design. With just under 113,000 kilometers, this Tucson stands out as a well-kept, low-mileage option that offers premium features and long-term reliability at an excellent value.

Under the hood, the Limited trim features Hyundai’s spirited 1.6L turbocharged GDI engine, mated to a 7-speed dual-clutch automatic transmission, producing 175 horsepower and 195 lb-ft of torque. This turbocharged powertrain delivers responsive acceleration and smooth gear changes, making both city driving and highway cruising effortless. Add in Hyundai’s intelligent All-Wheel Drive system, and you have a vehicle that handles Canadian winters and wet conditions with confidence. Despite its performance orientation, the Tucson Limited is remarkably efficient—achieving an estimated 9.9 L/100km in the city and 8.4 L/100km on the highway—offering a perfect balance of power and fuel economy.

Visually, the gray exterior gives the Tucson a refined, contemporary look that complements its bold front grille, sculpted body lines, and upscale detailing. LED daytime running lights, HID headlights with auto-leveling, and chrome accents give it a distinctive edge. 19-inch alloy wheels and a panoramic sunroof further enhance its premium presence on the road, blending practicality with head-turning style.

Step inside, and you’re welcomed into a cabin that feels more luxury SUV than compact crossover. The Limited trim includes leather upholstery, heated front and rear seats, a heated leather-wrapped steering wheel, and power-adjustable front seats with lumbar support for long-distance comfort. The dual-zone automatic climate control system keeps both driver and passengers comfortable, while the large cabin and flat-folding rear seats offer excellent cargo versatility for road trips, errands, or family outings.

Technology in the Limited trim is abundant. A vibrant 8-inch touchscreen infotainment system anchors the dashboard, featuring built-in navigation, Apple CarPlay, Android Auto, Bluetooth, and a crisp rearview camera. The Infinity premium sound system delivers impressive audio quality, ideal for music lovers or long highway drives. Additional
