2021 Ford Super Duty F-550 DRW

The 2021 Ford F-550 Super Duty DRW in bright white is an uncompromising force in the commercial truck segment, engineered for relentless work and purpose-built performance. With its dual rear wheels, 4x4 capability, and flatdeck bed, this truck isn't just built to meet the demands of a job site—it's built to dominate them. Powered by the renowned 6.7L Power Stroke V8 turbo diesel engine and showing just under 85,000 kilometers, this F-550 offers low mileage for its year, indicating plenty of remaining service life and making it an outstanding investment for any fleet operator or business owner.

The 6.7L Power Stroke turbo diesel V8 is one of the most respected powerplants in Ford's arsenal, delivering a massive 330 horsepower and a commanding 825 lb-ft of torque in this chassis cab application. That kind of torque is made for moving serious weight, and it does so with confidence, smoothness, and long-haul efficiency. Mated to a rugged 10-speed TorqShift heavy-duty automatic transmission, gear shifts are both responsive and efficient, helping to reduce wear and improve drivability whether the truck is under heavy load or cruising unladen. With its robust engineering, this diesel drivetrain is trusted by contractors, logistics companies, and industrial operations alike for its durability, reliability, and service longevity.

What truly sets the F-550 apart is its superior capability. This model, when properly outfitted, can tow up to an astounding 18,500 lbs conventionally—or significantly more with a gooseneck or fifth-wheel setup, often pushing beyond 31,000 lbs in total capacity. Payload capacity is equally impressive, offering over 11,000 lbs on the flatdeck depending on upfitting and configuration. With dual rear wheels and a high-capacity rear axle, this truck was built to handle the heaviest of tasks—whether that's hauling construction materials, carrying equipment, or towing multi-axle trailers over long distances. The flatdeck provides unmatched utility and adaptability for commercial purposes. With stake pockets, and tie-down points, it's ready to be outfitted to suit any trade—from landscaping to welding, excavation, or delivery services.

Built on a reinforced steel chassis with a fully boxed frame and high-strength suspension, the F-550 doesn't just perform—it endures. The solid front axle paired with 4x4 capability ensures this truck can get into and out of challenging terrain, job sites, or rural properties where others might hesitate. The four-wheel-drive system adds crucial confidence during Canadian winters or muddy spring work seasons, while front tow hooks make recovery straightforward, even in the most demanding conditions.
