2019 Honda Civic Sedan

The 2019 Honda Civic LX with CVT is a compact sedan that delivers timeless reliability, fuel-efficient performance, and everyday comfort—all wrapped in a sleek, modern design. Whether you’re a first-time buyer, a daily commuter, or someone who just wants a car that gets everything right, the Civic LX continues to be a standout choice.

Powered by a 2.0-litre 4-cylinder engine producing 158 horsepower, this Civic pairs beautifully with a Continuously Variable Transmission (CVT) for smooth acceleration and excellent efficiency—just 7.0L/100 km combined. It’s quiet, responsive, and built to handle every kilometre with confidence.

Inside, the Civic LX keeps things simple and smart. You’ll find heated front seats, automatic climate control, a rearview camera, and a 7-inch touchscreen display with Apple CarPlay®, Android Auto™, Bluetooth®, and a user-friendly interface. The interior is spacious for a compact sedan, with high-quality materials and thoughtful storage throughout.

Honda Sensing® comes standard, bringing advanced safety features like adaptive cruise control, lane keeping assist, forward collision warning, and automatic emergency braking—technology designed to keep you safer on every drive.

Reliable, efficient, and easy to live with, the 2019 Honda Civic LX (CVT) is everything a compact car should be—and then some.
